SUPREME COURT

15th February. IN SUMMARY JURISDICTION.

WILLIAMS V. DINNEN. This case, which was adjourned in order to see if the parties could come to some arrangement, again came on for hearing.

Mr. Hastings (of Messrs. Wotton and Deacon's) appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Webber Mr. Hastings informed his Lordship that the parties had not been able to come to any sottle-

Marian Dingen, wife of the defendant, was then called. She said she remembered some furniture belonging to the plaintiff was brought to their house. About a week afterwards the plaintiff ealled and went downstairs with her husband and herself to look at the things. She advised plaintiff to sell the articles. He said that they would only fetch two or three dollars and that he would give them to witness. She accepted them. This occurred about two months before the boys came to live at her house. Plaintiff had made her a present of a piano and a pair of Japanese pictures. The boy Gravino remained with them a little over a month.

Mr. Webber said he thought that from the evidence of Mr. and Mrs. Dinnen it was clear that the plaintiff had made a present of some of this furniture to them .. The plaintiff had denied ever having been in the godown and mak. the evidence of the defendant and his wife dis- the bay, and every vessel which enters the gulf for a present of these articles, but in addition to proving this they had also the evidence of the boy Gravino. He could hardly think that Mrs. Dinnon would go into the box and wilfully perjured herself for the sake of a few articles. Possibly Mr. Williams had since forgotten the circumstance. So far therefore as that was concerned that part of plaintiff's claim would be dismissed. There seemed to have been no specific arrangement as to the sum to be paid for the board of the younger boy, but it would be absurd to suppose that Mr. Dinnen would feed the boy and look after him for nothing. YOKOHAMA.

-Hiogo Nervs.

It is said that the Government have decided to shortly undertake the construction of the railway which is to run between Otsu and Nagahama along the castern shere of Lake Biwa. The necossary surrey has already been completed. As the result of the visit of Counts Ito and Oyama to the island of Oshima at the end of the year, the Jiji Shimpo hears that the Government, recognising the strutegical importance of the island, have almost decided to station a garrison at Itsubu-mura, a village on the island, to construct a harbour on its southern side opposite the small islands Soven and Saneku, to place a harbour master's department at Higaho-komivamura and to establish a Magazine at Nishi-boshimura. These steps though not positively decidod upon will be carried out sconer or later.

The Jiji Shimno says that it is contemplated o lay a cable direct from Tsuruga-saki, a cape at the entrance to the Gulf of Tokyo, to Yokohama, to enable the approach of vessels to be notified in Yokohuma in the gulf. This step. has been decided on because before the news of the approach of a steamer could be signalled from Kannon saki, the vessel had generally arrived in port, and because there was some lifficulty in laying a cable between Kamikometo-shima, a point further down the bay, and the mainland. Tsuruga-saki is further down suited for the purpose than Kamike-mote-shima. from which sometimes vessels coming from the Pacific were not observable. If this idea be put into execution, a substantial benefit will be conferred on the community at large.

It would seem from the Mainichi Shimbun that the Christian missionaries have lately rethe whole of the evidence on both sides went to political and other subjects, in his most eloquent show that defendant was merely the custodian of manner, spoke of Christianity as follows:- "To assist the speedy advancement of Japan we must introduce into our society as many of the elsments of Western civilization as possible. Politics as well as commerce must be conducted on western lines; and our religion. must also be that of western nations. It is, therefore, not only necessary to legally per mit Christianity but also to afford it a certain amount of protection." Count Incuye is credited with equally decided views as to the need for Christianity. Speaking to a company at his residence in Asabu, which included the Revs. C. S. Eby, G. F. Verbeck, E. R. Miller, and other foreign missionaries, the Count is reported to have said :- " Among the various elements which are required to complete the civilization of the Orient, Christianity is one of the most important. But among the various sects of Christiabity, one like the Estholic (Roman ?), which maintains relations with politics, contains many parts which are not to be admired; especially do I disapprove of their relationship with the radical political

The contract referred to in this-resoript provides for the establishment of a bank capitalized at 60,000,0000 taels. The bank will be permitted to coin money and issue legal tender notes up to the full limit of its capital. The bank agrees to lean the Government 3,000,000 tacks at the lowest rate of interest paid on any American Government loan, and the bank is also to negotiate all the loans of the Chinese Governmen for the purpose of building railroads or other publ works. When Count Mitkiewicz loft China with this concession in his pocket it was thought that some modifications might be deemed necessary by the American capit dists, and a representative of the Chinese inversment came with the Count to act for the Vicercy. But upon the arrival of Mickiewicz he discovered that a storm of opposition, pressed by the English and German influences in China, had broken out, and he thought it extremely inadvisable to press any alteration in the concession at that time. He and Mr. Barker never ingly cabled to China, in company with Ma Kit-chang and the Chinese Mintster in Washington, that everycable a ratification or reassertion of the Vicercy Li's
